Through the doors of C.H.S.

comes enthusiasm, the key word which makes experience memorable. It appears in fall's warm weather diversions, is expressed in a hard fought basketball game, is felt in the reaction to a visiting speaker, and is an integral part of the satisfaction received from study. Have you seen the building and the ball-games on the weekends or a Christmas Convocation, a brand new class of freshmen, or a group of well-adjusted seniors? Have you heard the noisy clatter in the halls every morning, the ringing of the bell when class is out, or the hushed stillness at the end of the day? Have you felt the deep frustration of a wholly fruitless effort, or the satisfaction of a job well done, or the warmth of a lasting friendship? Of course you have not seen this all in one swift glance. To see it takes years, four to be exact! To see it takes joy, anger, frustration — and one must be alert, for it comes but once, and then passes on, unable to return.

Looking for someone? Well, the balcony is a good place to start. Sitting and talking about the day's classes and other activities while watching the intramural sports is a favorite noon pastime of most students.

BUSCO HALLS BRIGHTEN AS STUDENTS ENTER

Signing absence slips, collecting mail, slamming lockers, dashing here and there before the final bell, and making a quick stop at the junior store are only a few of the things we do at the start of a new day. Each day brings new experiences, greater challenges, some disappointments, and even some new friends. All of this and much more adds to our storehouse of knowledge at C.H.S.

"This is the only place I never get any bills," declares Mrs. Shaffer, as she and Mr. Norman look over their daily mail.

WITH SHOUTS OF LAUGHTER AND CHATTER

"Where can it be?"

"Now, what's your excuse?"

"Chow-time!"

Larry LaRue and Ron Johnson seem to enjoy doing the hoola even though their grass skirts are make-believe.

C. H. S.'ers ARE

"Two bits she says no," says Keith Robbins and Bob Green to Richard Baughman as he looks up his girl's telephone number.

"Of course lockers were made to sit in!" says Gloria Kirkpatrick to her partner Charlene Andorfer.

A few honor students, Wayne Creech, Cheryl Ayers, David Troyer, and Linda Troyer, stop to talk with Dr. E. Sterl Phinney, speaker for the banquet from Taylor University. The banquet was given by the Churubusco Rotary for students who were on the first semester honor roll.

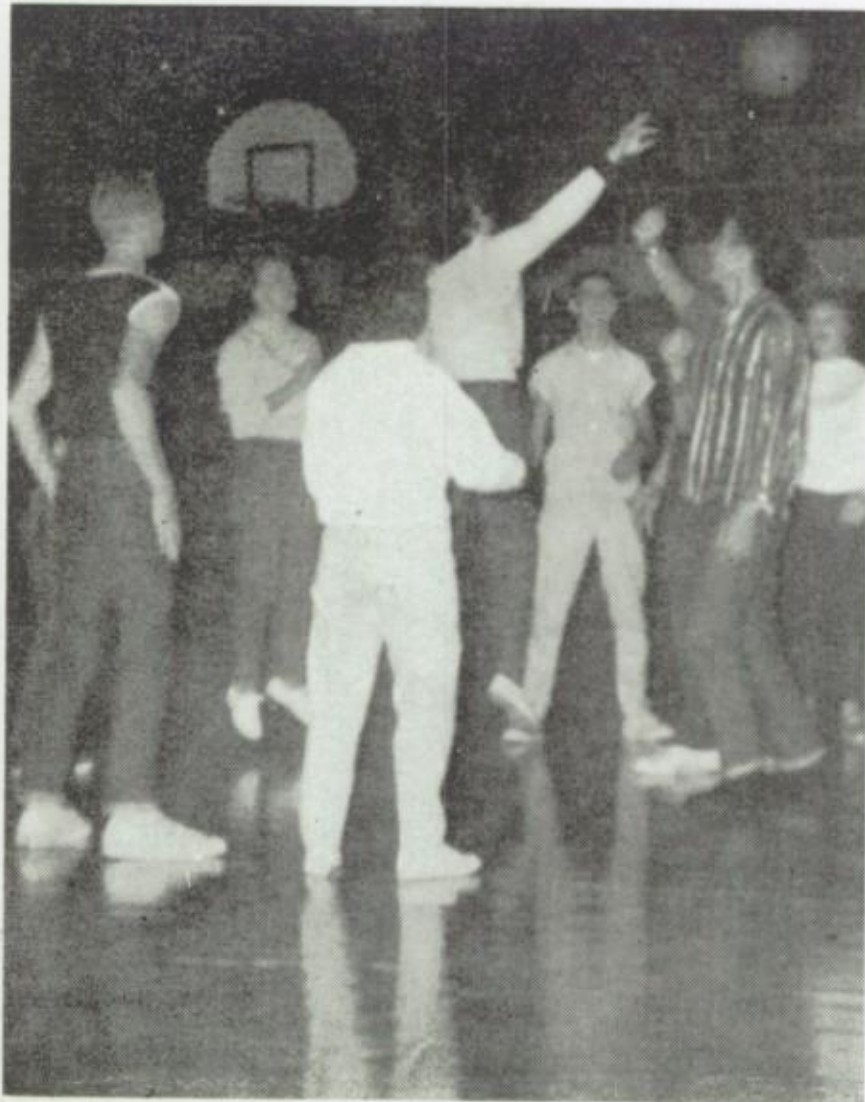

TYPICAL TEENS

Putting on make-up before the junior class play are Ron Johnson, John Whan, Ron Cook, Carolyn Benson, Judy Fuller, and Vernon Rose. In order to do a good job, the committee must spend some time studying the character's personality.

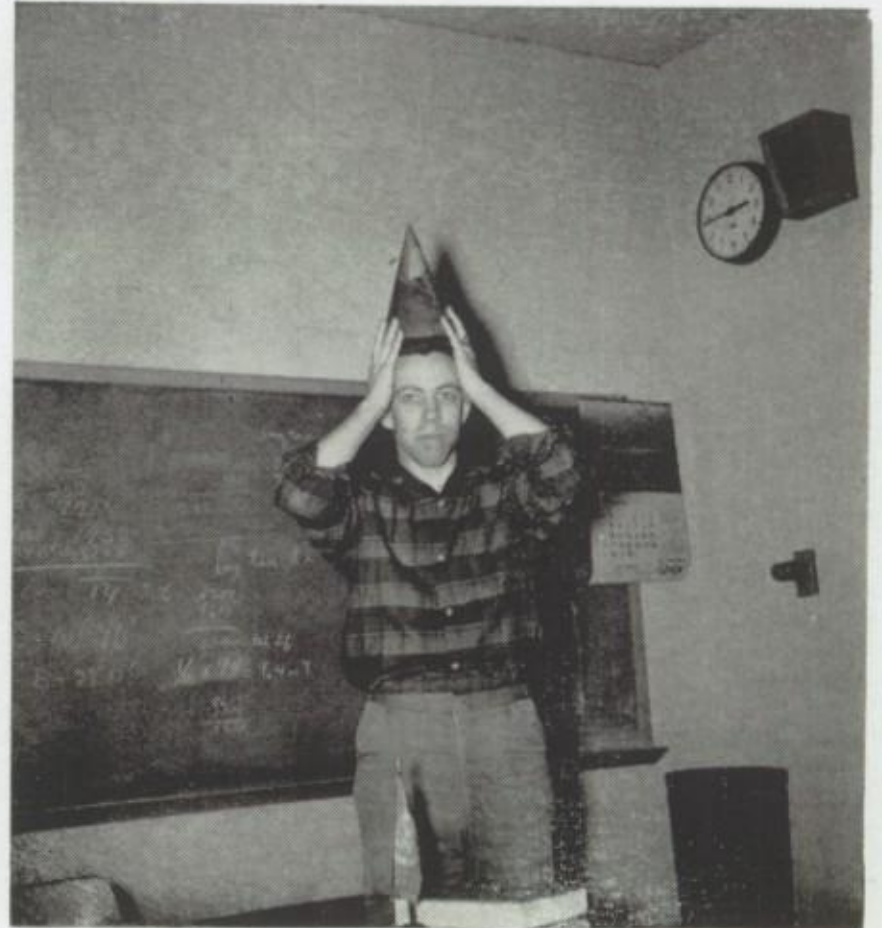

"I've got him," yells Paul Bair as Johanna Linvill, Arlene Linvill, and Dave Buschman share the fun.

Fans yelled as cheerleaders battled the Reserves.

There's never a dull moment when there are things such as this for Bruce Geiger to play with.

EVERY DAY IS FULL OF FUN!

Food is one of the favorite topics of discussion as the students buy tasty morsels to munch during intermissions.

WE LIKE TO DATE AND FOLLOW FADS

Shirtniks and snuggles were only a few of the fads seen at C.H.S.

Dancing and listening to music are favorite pastimes of Paul Miller and Kay Perlich, as well as of other C.H.S. students.

You're not really seeing double! These couples, Connie Gray and Harold Schinbeckler, Julie Herron and Alan Thompson, are wearing "his and hers" shirts.

Dating is one of the more interesting facets of Bob Green's and Arlene Linvill's school life.

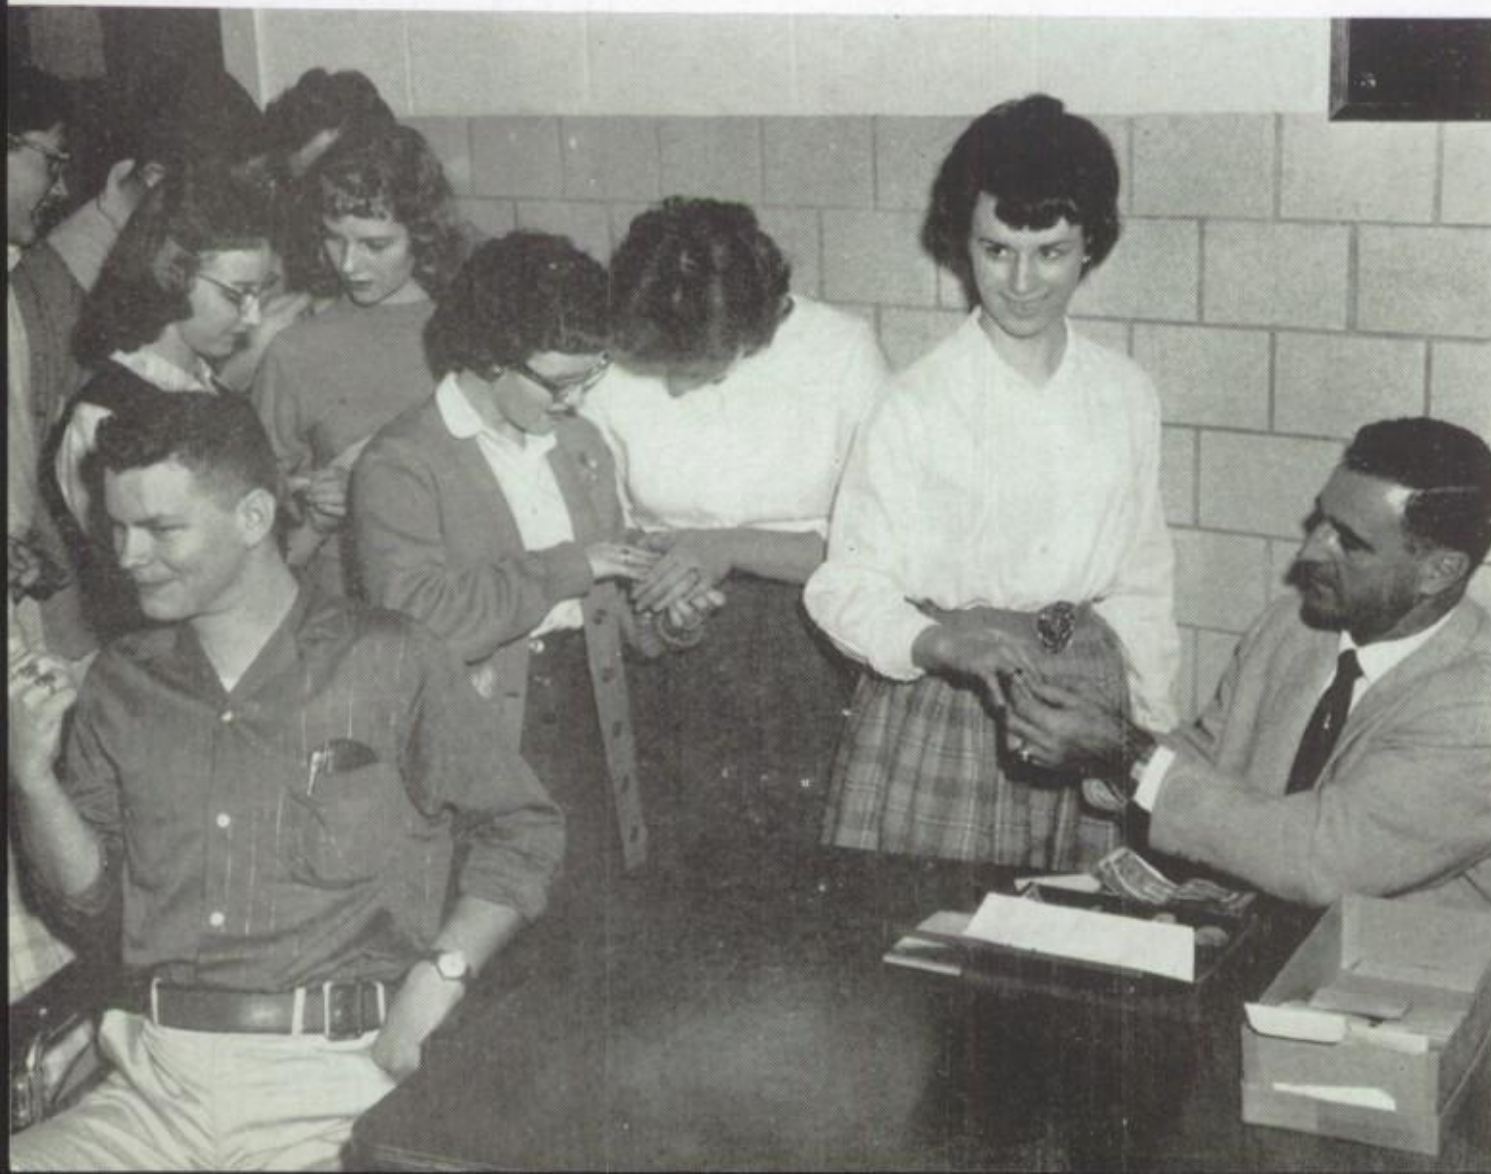

Senior magazine captains, Bruce Geiger, Marilyn Runyon, and Richard Baughman, watched the thermometer climb as they counted the money at the end of each day.

Students look quite frequently to catch up on the latest news displayed on the bulletin board.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES AND CLASS IDENTIFICATIONS

Herff Jones representative, Mr. George, tries Susie Barnhart's ring for size while other juniors proudly admire their long awaited class rings.

JUNIOR PLAY

The junior class worked very hard to make the production of their class play Room for One More, a success. The cast and other members of the class who were responsible for properties, scenery, costumes, make-up, and prompting, spent many hours at practice and other activities that were necessary to make the production enjoyable for their audience. Mr. Harold Norman was the director of the play. The performance was October 7-8 with the same cast both nights. The co-operation of every class member made them all proud of the play and the reception it received.

KEEP BUSCO TEENS EXCITED AND PROUD

Judy Fuller, "Mrs. Rose", has just proved that her son, Vernon Rose, "Joey", doesn't know much about prize fighting while Kaye Perlich, "Betty", and JoAnn Patton, "Mrs. Biddle", look on with concern.

"My turtle, my turtle," cries Sharon Sheldon, "Teen-sie", when she discovers her turtle has died.

Red roses were presented to Queen Jeanne by Bob Sloffer, Tusitala business manager.

The punch table was a popular place for the thirsty dancers. Don Amber and Don Johnson, staff members, were found serving the crowd.

SNOWBALL QUEEN ADDS GLAMOUR TO THE DANCE

Escorts and queen candidates watch admiringly as last year's queen, Coreen McCoy, crowns this year's queen, Jeanne Gross.

The grand finale of the crowning ceremony was the march of the queen and her court. Queen Jeanne and her escort, Richard Baughman, are followed by Carol Miller and Paul Miller.

The Snowball Dance was sponsored by the Tusitala staff to help pay expenses of publishing the yearbook. Each class chose one queen candidate and enthusiastically backed her with car washes, bake sales, pizza parties, and slave auctions. The candidates were also auctioned off to determine whom their escorts would be.

The dance was held January 27, in the school cafeteria. Music was provided by a local dance band, and refreshments were served by the staff. The crowning ceremony was the highlight of the evening. Jeanne Gross, junior candidate, was crowned queen. Her court consisted of Carol Miller, senior; Gloria Kirkpatrick, sophomore; and Patty Zolman, freshman. The queen's escort was Richard Baughman, and the other escorts were Paul Miller, Bob Helm, and Ron Cook.

"But it's so simple!" explains Richard Stoner to Dale Delaney. "Just say the magic word!"

Music for the dance was supplied by Craig's Melodymen.

Take your pick of these five lovelies.

"MAYTIME MIST"

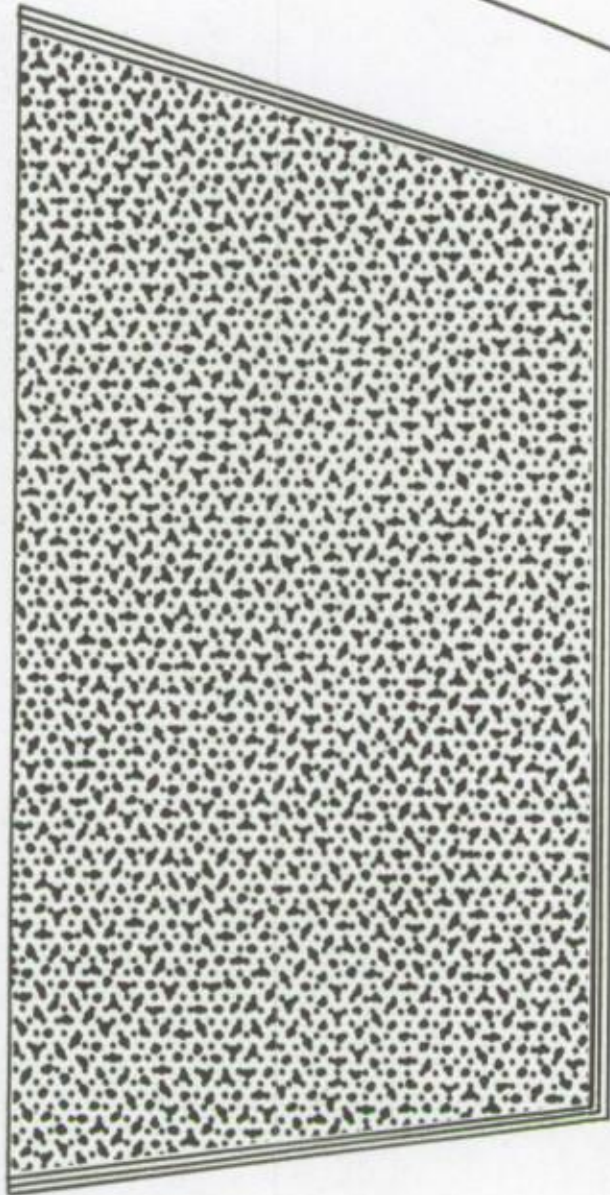

The Junior-Senior Reception was held May 19 at the Van Orman Hotel in Fort Wayne. "Maytime Mist" was chosen as the theme. The Chatterbox room was decorated with brilliantly colored paper umbrellas, sparkling raindrops, and Maypoles. The dinner was followed by speeches by the Senior and Junior class presidents, Bob Straub and Keith Robbins, and the reading of the Senior class will and prophecy. Entertainment was provided by Richard Stoner, and later couples danced to the music of Craig's Melodymen.

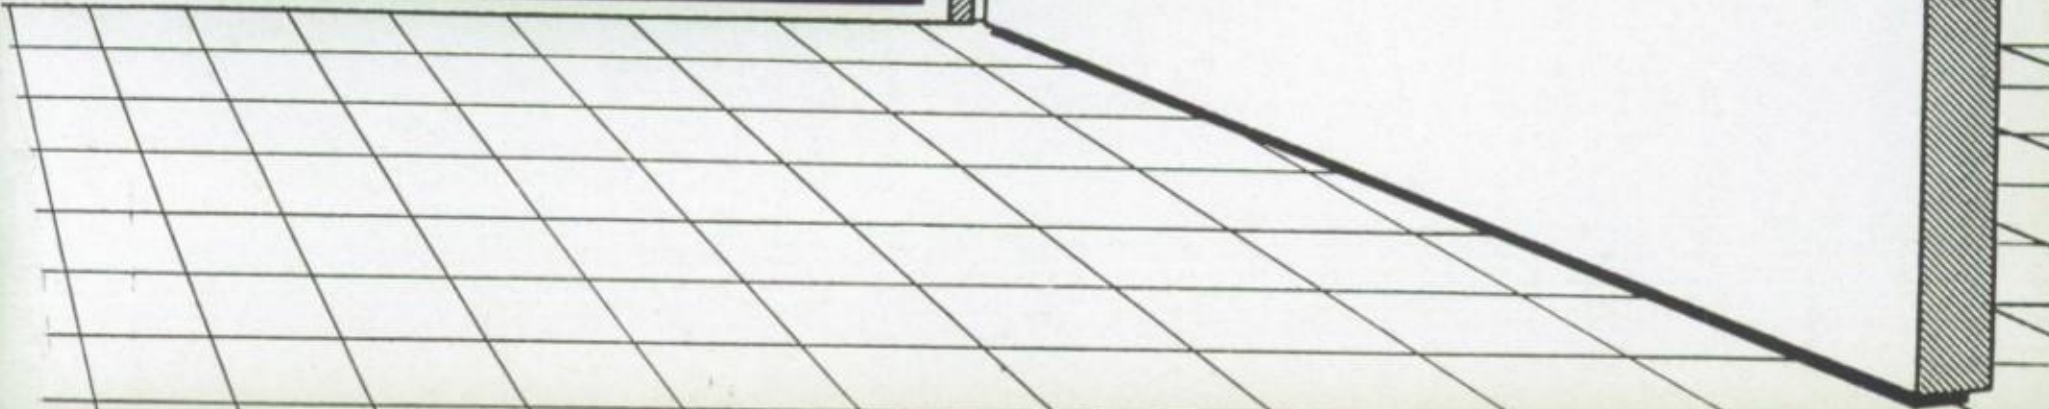

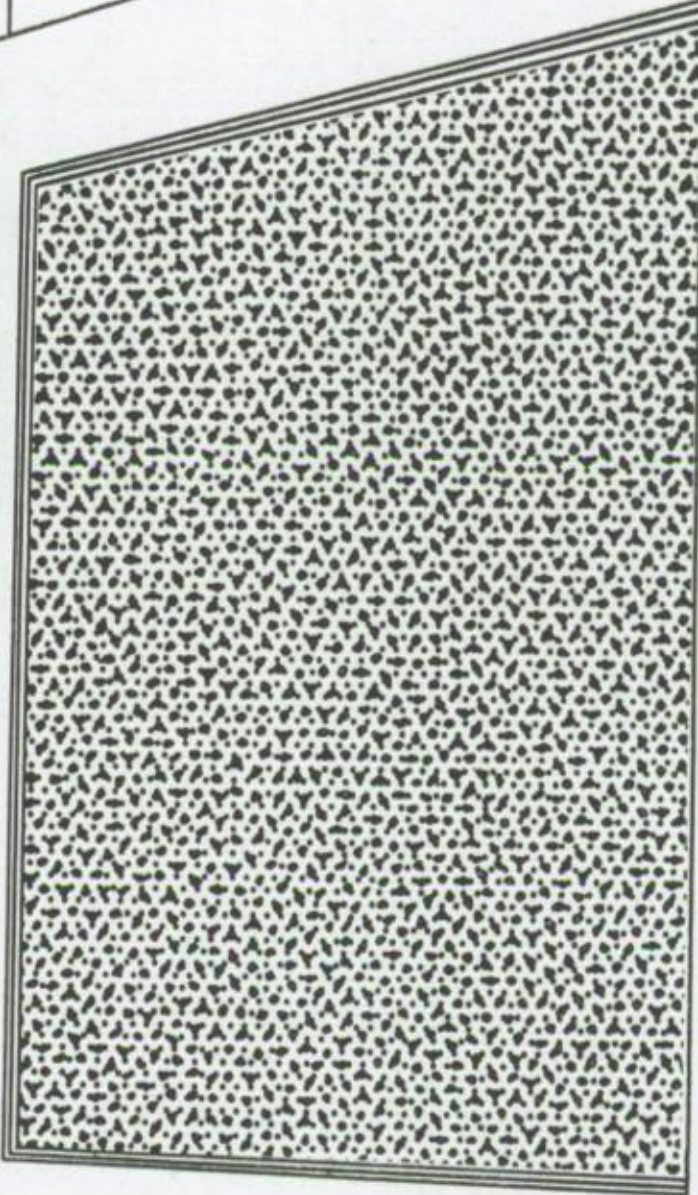

Dancing begins as Queen Coreen and Bob lead off the first dance. The Queen's court was comprised of Judy Siebern, Patty Gray, Suzy Pappenbrock, and Judy Hill.

TUSITALA STAFF WRITES DILIGENTLY, EDITS

How should I type this headline? After all that work my lay-outs still look crooked! How do I get this graphite smooth? But, I just can't think of a caption. Oh, this copy just doesn't suit me. Hey, Mom. Pack me a lunch. We're staying after school to work on the yearbook.

Cropping, captions, headlines, and copy all presented problems. Questions were asked, thought about, and finally solved. Indiana University contributed much to our ability to answer the questions when Marilyn Runyon and Kathie Watson attended Journalism Institute last summer.

Contributions, subscriptions, and the Snowball Dance proved very helpful to the Tusitala's funds, while Mrs. Holcomb, the Tusitala sponsor, added ideas, answers, and help to all.

Yes, questions were asked, problems were worked out, headlines were written, many, many long hours were spent, and deadlines were met to produce the 1962 Tusitala.

Here proudly, lovingly, yet critically, Business Manager, Bob Sloffer; Editor, Marilyn Runyon; and Assistant Editor, Kathie Watson, eye sections of the 1962 Tusitala dummy.

Many long hours were spent writing copy and captions as these staff members, Arlene Linvill, Sharon Diffendarfer, Marilyn Runyon, and Paul Chapman, well know.

Although the year presented a lot of headaches and work for Mrs. Holcomb, she had some moments to laugh and enjoy.

UNWILLINGLY, AND REAPS PRAISE HUMBLY

These staff members, Bob Sloffer, John Townsend, Mrs. Holcomb, Sponsor, Kathie Watson, Sherry Zolman, and Carol Greer create a lot of suspense as they tally the final votes.

Twice a week 65 members of the high school chorus meet under the direction of J. Tide Cook. The chorus began the year by singing at the annual Fall Concert of December 10. On March 24, they participated in the District Vocal Contest at Goshen and received a second division rating. The community churches joined the chorus for the presentation of an Easter Cantata, Behold Your King, on April 8. This was the first of what we hope will be many community projects. The Spring Concert on May 4 ended a year of many enjoyable moments.

We are fortunate, indeed, to have had an accompanist as talented and helpful as Kathie Watson.

"Octones" And Girl's Trio Furnish Entertainment

Musc and melodies furnished by the "Octones" and the Girl's Trio were floating through the air all year. Many engagements, including banquets, singspirations, church services, and contests, called for a few songs by the "Octones." Four new members were added to the group this year because of vacancies. The "Octones" practiced once a week after school and on Sunday afternoons at the home of Mrs. John Townsend.

The newly organized Girl's Trio sang at the Fall Concert given by the band and chorus. Although they didn't have many engagements this year, they have even bigger hopes for next year.

Members of the Girl's Trio, Judy Gaerte, Nancy Barnhart, and Nancy Egolf, say, "Harmonizing is fun."

Don Johnson, bass; Kaye Perlich, alto; John Townsend, first tenor; Marilyn Runyon, first soprano; Jeanne Gross, accompanist; Susie Barnhart, second soprano; Terry Zolman, tenor; Judy Read, alto; Ron Johnson, bass.

SCALES, CONTESTS, AND CONCERTS - - -

Student Director Dave Buschman

The sound of a whistle, and the beat of a drum, brings the Churubusco High School Marching Fifty, under the direction of J. Tide Cook, with the drum majorette and baton twirlers showing off their new uniforms to the pace of gleaming trumpets.

Our band did an admirable job at the solo and ensemble contest this year. We had five entries, three of which received superior ratings, and two which rated excellent.

The band rehearsed daily for their marching programs at half-times of some home ballgames, the Fall and Spring concerts, and the district band contest.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS LOOK TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

The F.H.A. members worked hard this year to qualify as an honor chapter. They were hostess to the Albion and Hometown chapters, served coffee and doughnuts to the teachers, and had a Mother-Daughter Tea along with many other parties and meetings that were required to meet the goals.

For the second time in its history, the Churubusco chapter was proud to have one of its members elected to a district office. Marilyn Runyon served as District Projects Chairman for the school year 1961-62.

The only money making project was popping and selling popcorn at the ballgames. This was also one way the members could earn some of the needed fifty-five points.

Our chapter mothers were Mrs. Victor Barcus and Mrs. Thomas Runyon.

By handing over the gavel, Janice Geiger gives the responsibility of FHA president to Sue Barcus.

For the second year the senior members of the FFA chapter received leather award jackets. This year there were nine members receiving them.

The Green Township boys won the annual pest contest again this year. The Smith Township boys will serve a supper for the winning team in the spring.

The FFA again sold garden seeds and had a coat check at all of the home games and at the Sectional basketball tourney.

This year Bob Green and Richard Baughman will represent the Churubusco Chapter of FFA at the FFA State Convention.

FUTURE FARMERS PROVE TO BE GREEN HANDS

These are only a few of the Senior boys who received their FFA jackets this year. Showing them off are Bruce Geiger, Charles Geiger, Drex Bricker, Thomas Hesting, and David Fulk. Standing: John Geiger, Don Krider, Ron Peters, Roger

First step: Bob Green, president; Rosemary Gilliom, Linda Troyer, secretary.

Second step: Terry Zolman, Steve Parker.

Third step: Ron Baughman, Herschel Clouse, Betsy Helm.

Fourth step: Dan Richardson, John Whan, Mike Adams, Paul Bair, vice-president.

STUDENT COUNCIL OUR REPRESENTATIVES

The Student Council members are the representatives of the entire student body. The council carried out many varied activities this year. The members sponsored a Student Council dance at the beginning of the year, counted votes for cheerleaders, provided and decorated a Christmas tree for the school, raised money for the WOWO Penny Pitch, and supervised fire drills. Throughout the year they also introduced the school convocations and made two engagements for the 1962-63 school year. One of the biggest tasks of the Student Council was helping Mr. Smith organize the F.T.A. Each member received a Student Council pin which was presented to him by Mr. Smith at a special convocation.

Student Council members take a moment to admire their Christmas tree and to do a bit of rearranging.

F.T.A. MEMBERS PLAN, DREAM, AND STUDY

Paul Chapman, Bob Green, Carolyn Benson, Roger Hartup, Paul Bair, Marilyn Runyon, Mr. Smith, Dan

Anderson, Dan Richardson, Linda Troyer, Joellen Ego'f, Judy Fuller, Joan Patton.

Talking to elementary children are prospective teachers; Judy Fuller and Bob Green.

The F.T.A. is a new organization in our school this year. It was organized by Mr. Smith, sponsor, and the students who are interested in the teaching profession. Several steps had to be taken before the club could receive its charter. Steps taken included electing a set of officers, writing up the constitution, and choosing a name for the club.

The club started with a total of eleven members who spent most of their time this year getting the club organized. One of the goals of the F.T.A. members is to help meet the ever increasing demand for teachers. The members study different teaching fields and get some practical experience. It is hoped that the club will continue to grow, not only in number, but in deep concern for this profession.

Seated: Marilyn Rohrer, Tom Butler, Dave Buschman, Bob Sloffer, Mr. Scribner.
Standing: Bill Kahlenbeck, Jane Ohlwine, Max Bennett, Herschel Clouse, Bob Streby, Jon Erickson,

CAMERA CLUB FLASHES INTO ACTION

The Camera Club under the supervision of Mr. Scribner used the name 'Saque Cliche,' which was adopted last year. At the beginning of the year, the photographers elected the following officers: president, Dave Buschman; vice-president, Tom Butler; secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Rohrer; and reporter, Bob Sloffer. The meetings were held once a month during activity period and in the evening at the school.

As this year's project, each member contributed an eight by ten photograph which was taken during the year and enlarged at one of the meetings.

A click of one of the members' cameras captured this snapshot.

SCIENCE CLUB SEARCHES FOR THE STARS

Do you want to learn about a hurricane or radioactive fallout or anything in the science field at all? Well, then, join the science club.

This year the Science Club, under Mr. Wolfe's able direction, chose astronomy as the year's project. A place of scientific interest was chosen which the club members visited in the spring. All the members learned together. At each meeting one of the budding scientists took a subject and gave information on it. President of the Science Club was Dan Richardson; vice-president, Herschel Clouse; treasurer, Paul Miller; and secretary, Carol Greer.

TATTLER

Seated: Dave Buschman, Oneita Weidman, Judy Read, Johanna Linvill, Beulah Betts, Barbara Bailey.
Standing: Nancy Bowers, Pat McGuire, Brenda Harrold, Sandy Coleman, Richard Baughman, Terry Greene, Carol Miller, Joan Gresley.

Seated: Diane Boggess, Dianne Miller, Marilyn Rohrer, Joellen Egolf, Dorothy Bowers, Sheryl Zinn.
Standing: Marilyn Runyon, Doris Krider, Peggy Carpenter, Sharon Kahlenbeck, Jon Erickson, Mrs. Shaffer, Sandy Krider, Thomas Hesting.

TALES FROM THE TATTLER

The Tattler staff worked hard to keep the students informed of happenings around C.H.S. Each month the Tattler appeared with news about sports, class projects, extra curricular activities, and even a comment or two from the principal. The staff, comprised of the office practice class, was rotated each issue so that every student was able to help publish the paper. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Shaffer, the staff sold approximately 170 issues to outside subscribers and members of the student body. Also, issues were exchanged with other schools in order to obtain more knowledge in producing a better paper.

CHRIST . . . OUR GUIDE

Adding new members and growing more spiritually were the two main goals of the Bible Club this year. Both of these goals were attained by the continuous efforts of the sponsor, Mr. Wolfe; president, Judy Read; vice-president, Junior Geiger; secretary, Karen Akers; songleader, Carol Miller; and the regular members.

Quizzing on various sections of the Bible brought us into a closer relationship with God. Attending Youth For Christ rallies was another way in which we had fellowship together.

The Holy Bible is always the center of attraction when Judy Read and Larry Clouse discuss its teachings with Mr. Wolfe.

Spookhouse? No, these nasty faces made by the art students decorated the art room during the Halloween season. Working on other projects under the supervision of Miss Allison, the art teacher, are Linda Jamieson and Bob Helm.

The clicking of keys and ringing of bells are stopped when Miss Yager smilingly shows typing student, Jo-Ann Patton, how to clean her typewriter.

Commercial Courses Help Students Gain Needed

These aren't really "writings on the wall." Mrs. Shaffer is teaching one of her future secretaries, Pat Tonkel, a little shorthand while the rest of the class checks to see if she makes any mistakes in her outlines.

The bookkeeping students are usually prepared with a lot of questions for Mrs. Shaffer to answer. Her answers and help will prove useful later in life to these business students.

Knowledge For Success In The Business World

The business department at C.H.S. does much to train students for an occupation as soon as they graduate. Business English, shorthand, typing, and office practice classes offer many useful techniques and much practical experience to future secretaries while bookkeeping, business math, and business law provide a good foundation for students who will get further training as accountants, executives, auditors, payroll clerks, business managers, or maybe even as an IBM operator. Along with these courses, the art students learn how to draw interesting designs and advertisements that will prove helpful to those interested in commercial art.

The office practice students were very happy this year to have an opportunity for the first time at C.H.S. to use a dictaphone. The dictaphone, along with the ditto machine, and the electric typewriters, and the adding machine, gave the students a better knowledge of the machines that they will be using in their future office work.

Making use of our new dictaphone is Marilyn Runyon as she types her ninety words a minute.

ENGLISH AND SOCIAL STUDIES ARE BASIC TO OUR

Government class included a brief study of the United States Constitution. Mr. Baker points out an article in it to Sandy Franklin and Bruce Geiger.

Everyone takes English and some kind of social studies while he is at C.H.S., because everyone knows that if he can speak correctly, and if he has a conversational knowledge of current events, he will be more successful in the future.

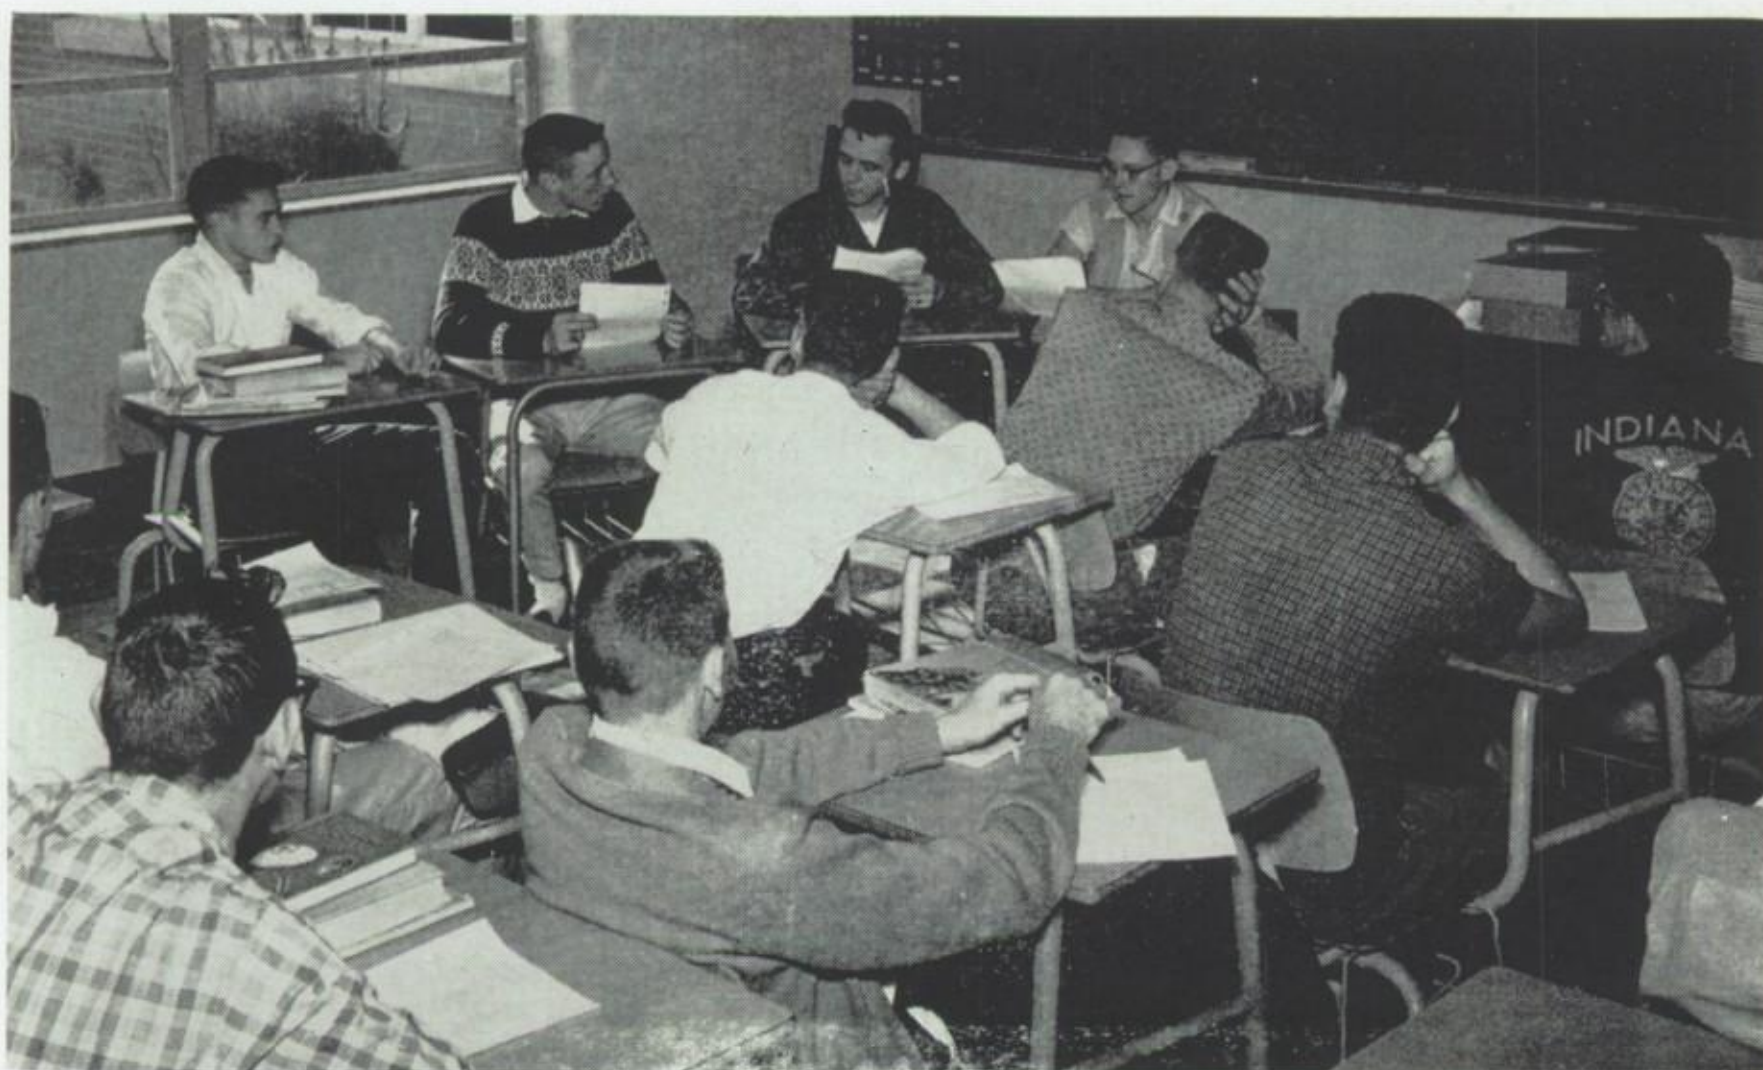

English and literature are required subjects for the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. These are elective subjects for the seniors. There are themes to be written, books to be read and reported on, the daily assignments to be done. These all add to the growing knowledge of our eager minds.

World history and geography are electives for the sophomores, but for the juniors and seniors, United States History and government are required. These subjects help us to better understand our American heritage, our present, and our future.

Fellow classmates find Dan Richardson's speech very convincing, but they wonder what it is really all about!

CULTURE, PHILOSOPHY, AND WORLD UNDERSTANDING

Panel discussions and reports added much to the routine daily assignments in this United States History class. Panel members are Ron Peters, John Whan, Alan Thompson, and Don Amber.

Spanish students learn to read and speak Spanish better by visual memory, study, and listening to Spanish records.

Beetles, frogs, and leaves—freshmen learn about many things in nature in biology class.

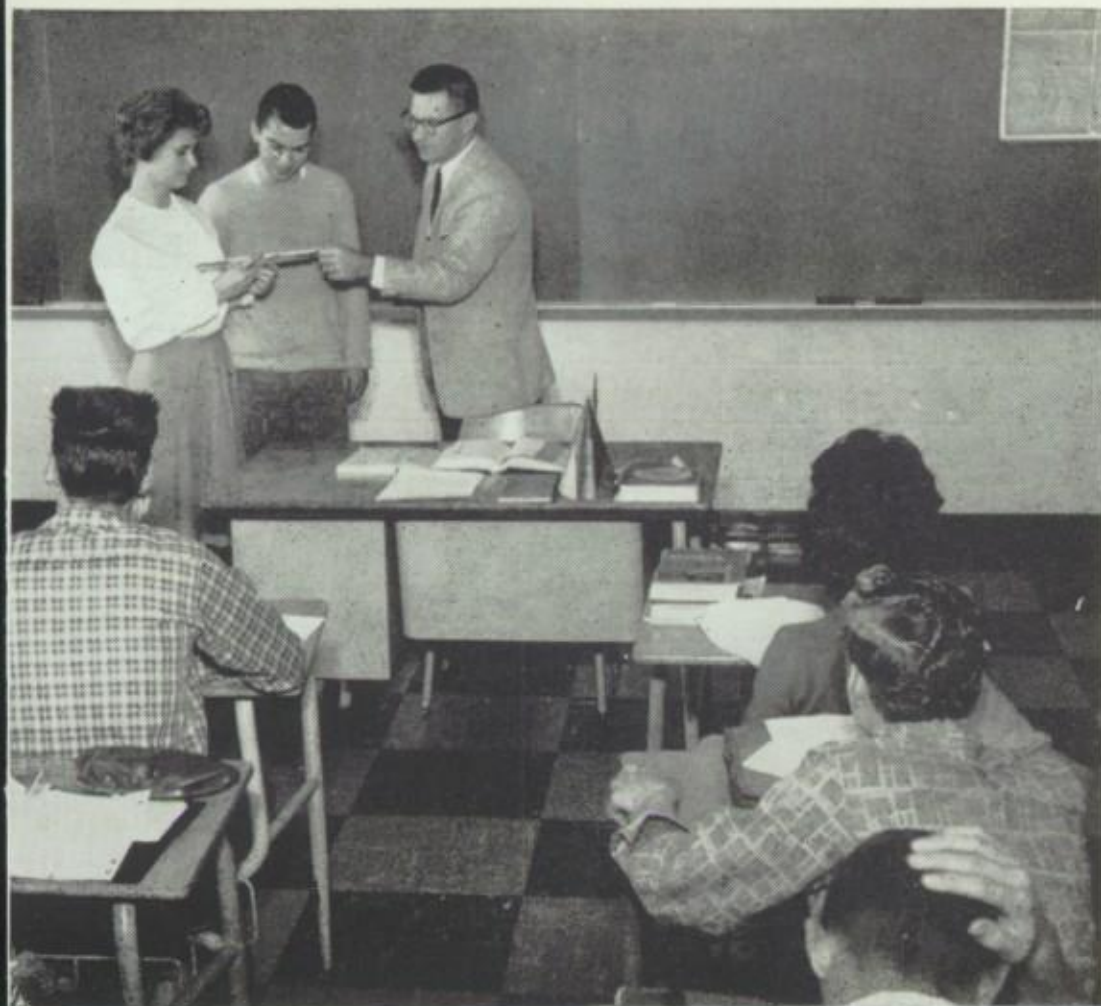

Most of the future scientists in the physical science class are interested in Mr. Wolfe's demonstration of a gyroscope.

ADVANCED STUDY IN SCIENCE AND MATH

"Easy now!" were Mr. Wolfe's thoughts as Arlene Linvill and David Clouse demonstrate how to work the barometer to physics students Ron Wilson, Dale Delanoy, Bob Sloffer, and Bruce Geiger.

"Sure is easier than working it out." Lorraine Bixler and Roger Hartup finally admit that Mr. Baker was right.

Many people used to think that science and math courses were limited, and they hesitated to enroll in these subjects. But today, we are becoming more and more aware of the many phases of science and math and we are beginning to realize how important they really are to us.

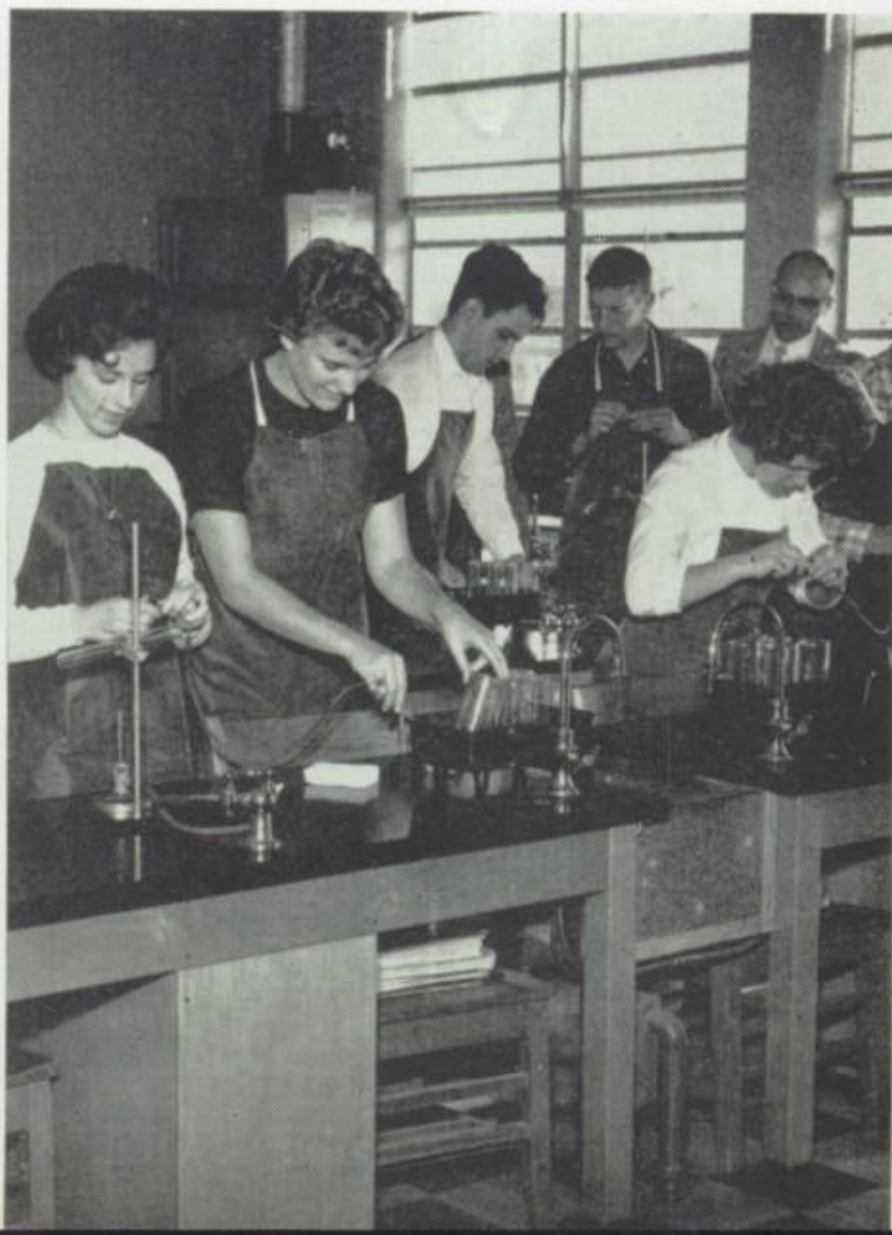

If it were not for science and math, we would not be enjoying all the luxuries that we have today. We could be sitting near the hearth wondering how many sheep would be taken by coyotes or whether the horses would get sick instead of watching the space flights on television and wondering if they will be a success.

Math is offered in many stages of difficulty including first year, second year, and college algebra, trigonometry, geometry, and general math. These math courses added to chemistry, physical science, physics, and biology give C.H.S. students a good background for advanced study in this modern space age.

PREPARE YOUNG SCIENTISTS FOR THE SPACE AGE

"Please don't blow up the lab!" silently pleads Mr. Wolfe as the juniors in chemistry class prepare an experiment.

"Round circles and straight lines prevent large errors." Mr. Wolfe makes sure that Allen Thompson's lines are straight.

Cooking smells are tantalizing as Marilyn Rohrer and Carolyn Weesner practice new methods and use new recipes during laboratory period.

These senior agriculture students, Drex Bricker, Richard Baughman, and Bob Green, have learned from Mr. Scribner that keeping accurate farm records is essential.

WE LEARN THROUGH EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE

Vocational and manual classes both develop skills that will be very useful in the future. In the home economic classes the girls gain many tips on preparing nutritious meals, caring for a family and home, as well as learning how to make some new clothes. The agriculture classes train the students in better ways to care for livestock, conservation of the soil, new methods of growing and storing crops, and even some judging of animals. The shop boys draw plans, study building materials, and make many beautiful and useful objects. They could very well be a handy man around the house some day.

These shop students are all in different stages of progress as they make something useful.

MANUAL AND PHYSICAL SKILLS DEVELOP CHARACTER

With the able assistance of the girl's Driver Education instructor, Miss Yager, Shirley Byrd and Janeann Brumbaugh take note of the parts that make the car run.

All sophomores were required to take the bookwork for Driver's Education during health and safety classes. Most of these sophomores used the knowledge that they gained through studying when they began practicing "behind the wheel" second semester.

This year the freshmen students were required to take physical education every day. Many body building devices were available for these classes. A few of the activities the classes engaged in were: volleyball, basketball, calisthenics, dancing, wrestling, tumbling, rope climbing, and jumping on the trampoline.

Along with these courses, a course in guidance was offered for any sophomore who wanted to take it.

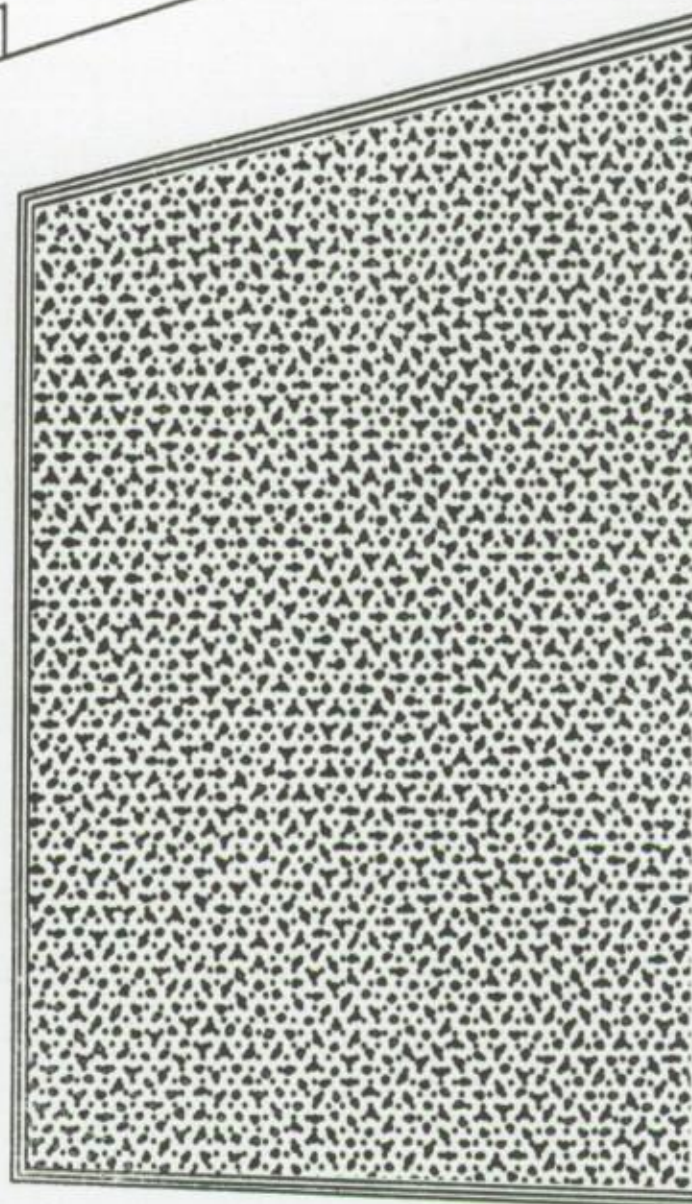

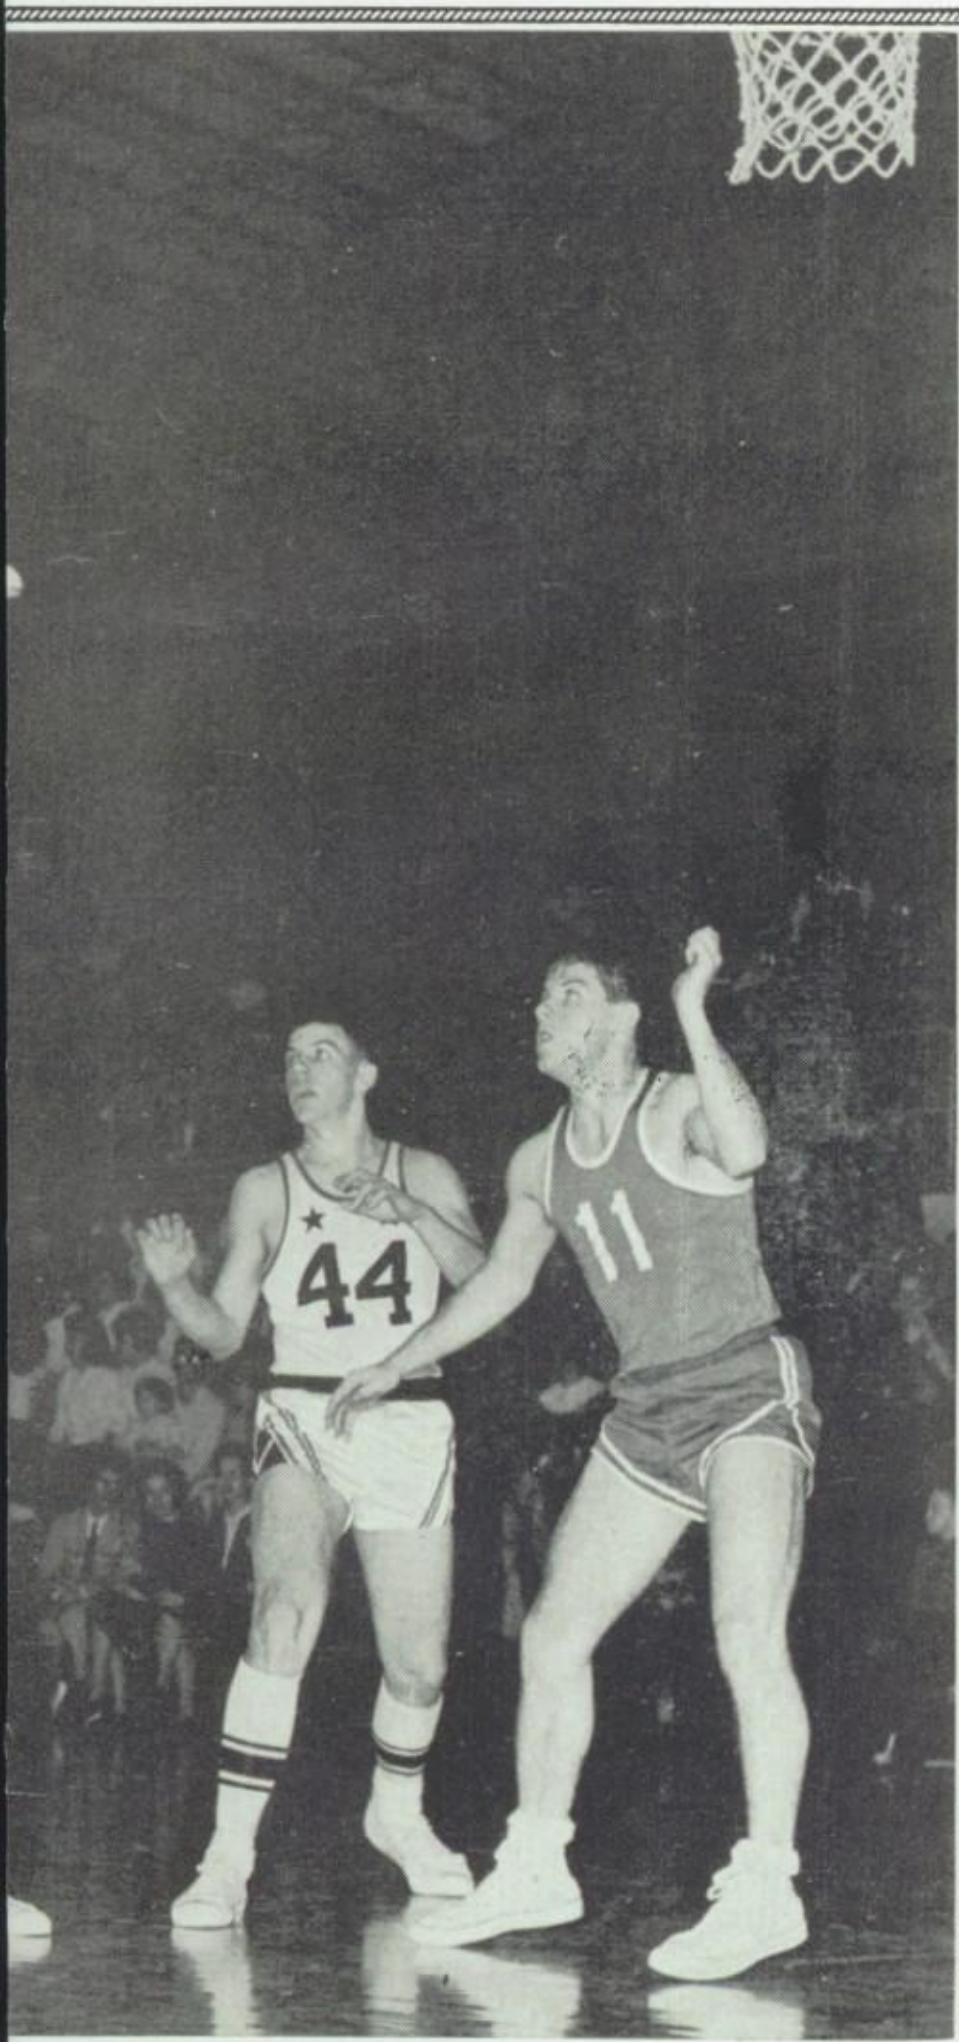

The rest of the students watch and wait for their turn as Mr. Johnson times their climb to the top of the rope and down again.

Coach Dewain Johnson's Cross Country team had a good season last spring winning seven and losing three. Of the seven wins, the team scored one perfect meet and won the county cross country meet. The team participated in the sectional cross country meet in Fort Wayne and placed 24th out of 32 teams present.

The track team had a building-up year with only two seniors left on the squad. They placed third in the county.

VARSITY SQUAD BRINGS PRIDE TO SCHOOL

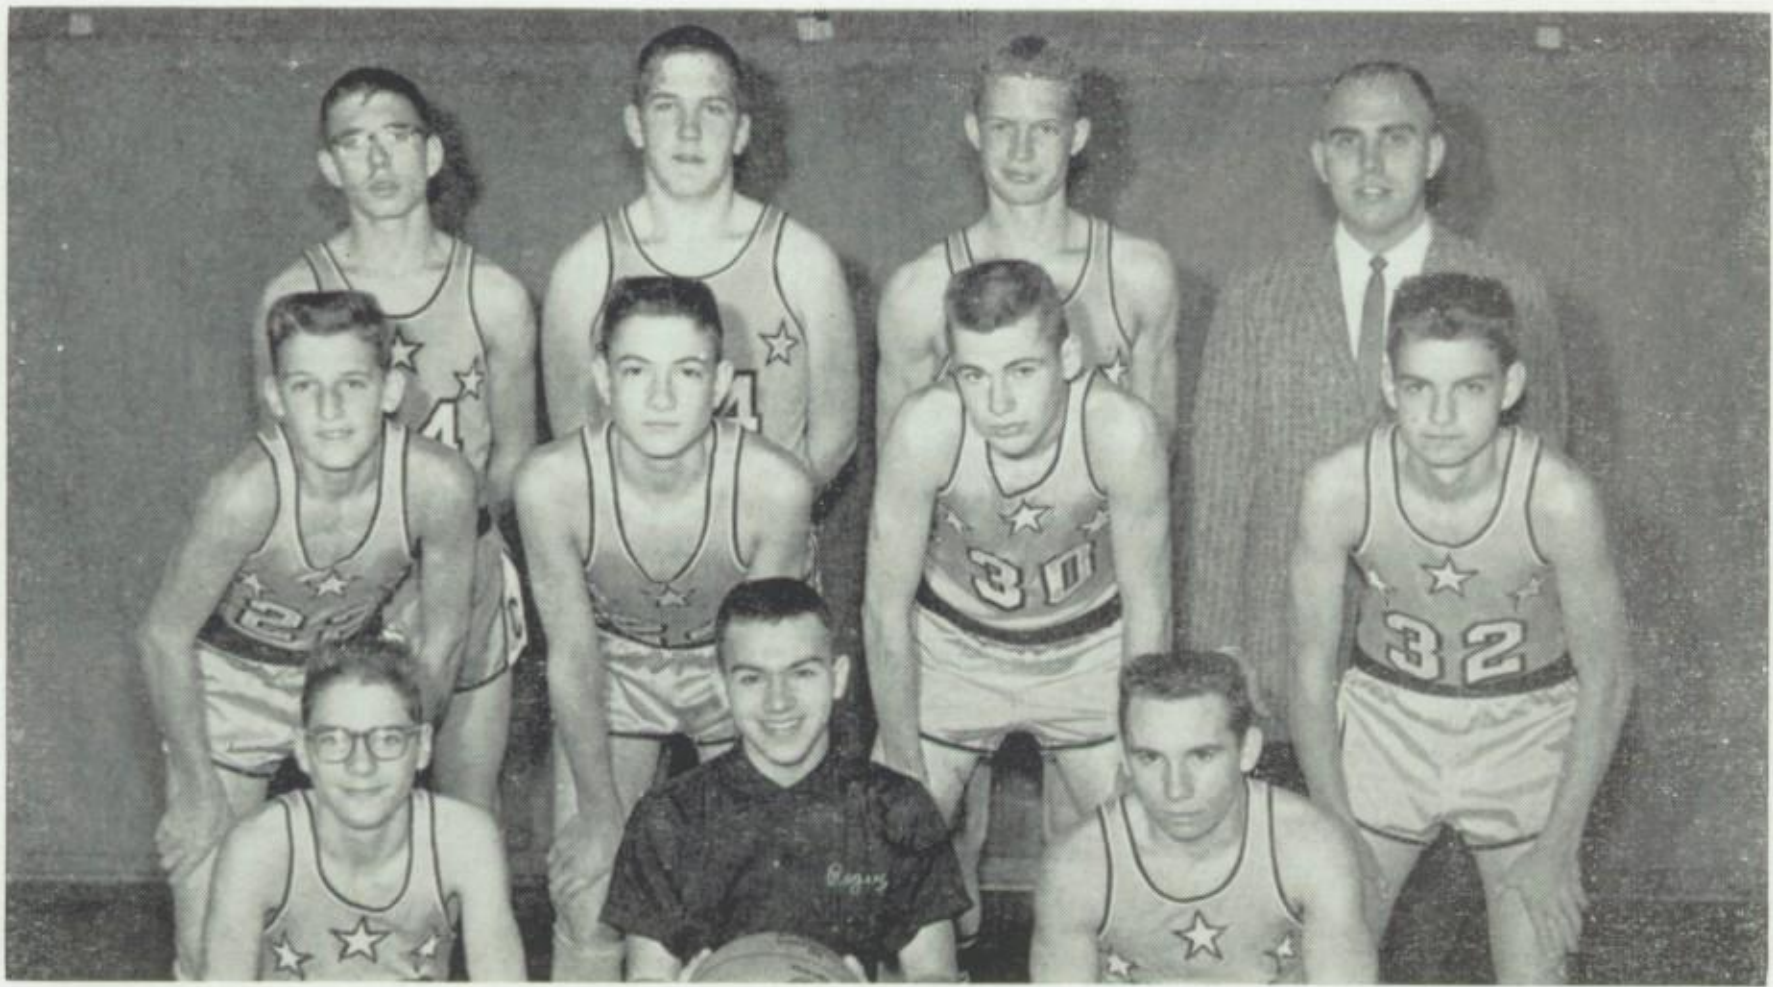

The Varsity basketball team this year was comprised of nine seniors, one junior, and one sophomore. These energetic team members played hard until the very last buzzer and walked off the floor in a good sportsman-like manner whether they won or lost.

The sports department purchased red blazers for all Varsity players and the coaches. The blazers will be passed on to next year's team. The managers were also presented shirts for their fine work.

The reserve team had a very good season with a record of 13 wins and 6 losses. They also won the North Webster Invitational Tournament and brought home a very nice trophy.

WE'RE WITH YOU TEAM, SO FIGHT!

When the basketball season got underway, there were seventy members in the cheerblock. Miss Yager, sponsor, and the cheerleaders pepped up the cheerblock this year with new yells, skits, and formations. The cheerleaders and Paul Miller, president, stirred up even more spirit during sectional tourney time when they sold black and gold banners for the fans to wear.

After the home ballgames, the cheerblock sponsored dances to help meet expenses. The members helped sell and take tickets and spin the records. With their tears, cheers, and various activities, the cheerblock members tried to do their part to spur the boys on.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Phil McCoy, Joan Gresley, Sharon Sheldon, Sherral Geiger

Playing ping pong is one of the many noon-time activities. Here Ron Peters is trying to get one past Bruce Ohlwine.

INTRAMURALS BOAST ACTIVE COMPETITION

Intramural sports at C.H.S. include basketball, ping pong, volleyball, trampoline, weight lifting, and rope climbing. Girls and boys both have fun playing ping pong and volleyball. The basketball teams do not have cheerleaders or a cheering block behind them, but they are very enthusiastic and determined to win.

This year for the first time girls competed in the ping pong play-offs. The winner must beat his opponent three times out of five games. Play-offs were held for singles and doubles.

Competition between the intramural teams gives the boys a good work-out during noon hour.

These junior high boys race for the trampoline so that everyone can get a few jumps in the air and back before the high school students get back from lunch.

WE STRIVE FOR FUN AND PHYSICAL FITNESS

Row 5: Marsha Gaff, Marna Gaff, Beverly Romine, Carolyn Benson, Nancy Gordon, Judy Fuller, Michele Adams, Cheryl Ayers, Juanita McEowen, Diana Crist.

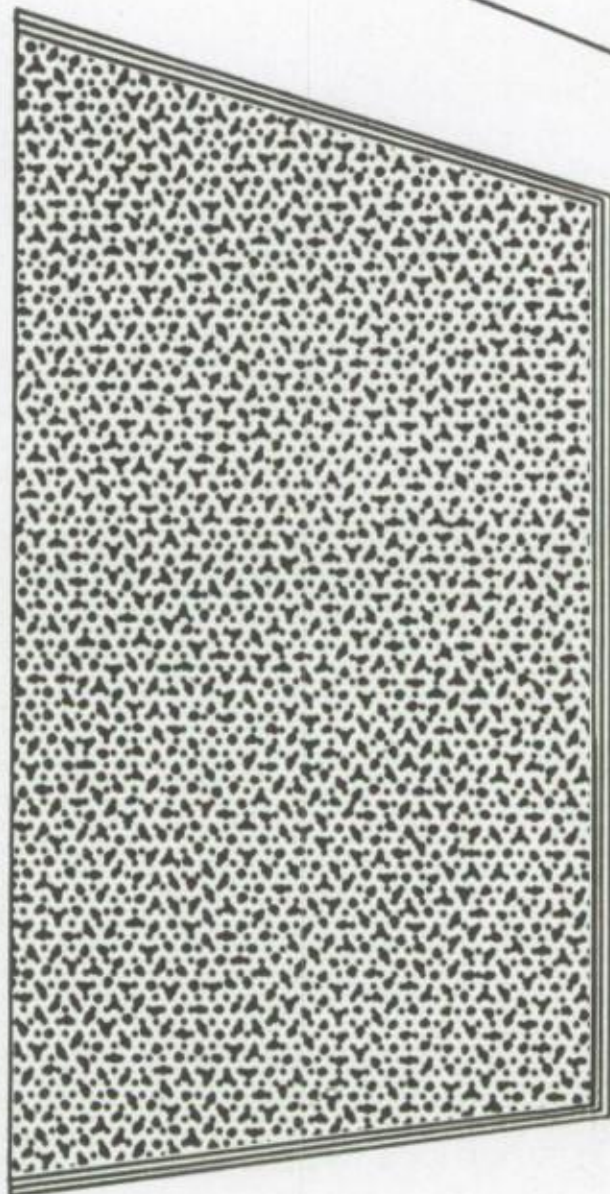

The G.A.A. girls, under the supervision of Miss Yager, met every Wednesday after school for their activities. Bowling was the first activity on the agenda. Learning techniques of bowling and trying to boost scores made this activity especially interesting. When they finished bowling, the girls played volleyball in the gym and even went swimming at the YWCA in Fort Wayne. The girls received points for the various activities that they participated in, and each member who accumulated 100 points received an award.

The following officers were elected to help carry out the activities: Sharon Sheldon, president; Sandy Krider, vice-president; Sharon Diffendarfer, secretary; Julie Herron, treasurer; Sherry Zolman, reporter.

" SUCCESS BELONGS TO THOSE WHO PREPARE FOR IT "

The senior year is the climax of our high school career, but as we look over the past four years of organized work, studies, and fulfilled moments we begin to realize what an important part of our lives these years have been.

Through the years we worked enthusiastically to make our dreams of the trip to Washington and New York, the prom, and graduation all come true. We realize that "Success Belongs to Those Who Prepare for It" and thus, began to prepare ourselves both for the present and the future.

Our class activities include Christmas card, candy, and magazine sales, junior and senior plays, the junior store, a car wash, and fish fries. We willingly worked as a class and set new records on all of our class projects with the exception of the junior and senior plays.

We were proud of the boys who represented us in athletics, the girls as cheerleaders, our Snowball Queen candidates, and our classmates who participated in the I.U. Achievement tests. We were especially proud when we received our class sweaters and class rings.

Our senior year was filled with making final preparations for the trip, baccalaureate and commencement exercises, and the last class picnic. This last year also found us applying to colleges and for future occupations. Now that we have completed our final year of high school, we would like to thank all those who have helped us to reach our goals and made these last four years so memorable.

Slumber parties such as these were a break from our school routine.

JUNIORS GIVE FIRST PLAY, MANAGE STORE, PLAN PROM

At the beginning of our swinging junior year, fifty-two members were in the swing. This was the smallest of the four high school classes. We started the year with our class elections which resulted in the following officers: Dan Richardson, president; Ron Johnson, vice-president; Susie Barnhart, treasurer; and Jeanne Gross, secretary.

The year's activities started with an Hawaiian Luau featuring Larry LaRue doing the native grass skirt dance accompanied by a seven piece native band made up of fellow junior classmates. Then came the junior play, Room for One More, directed by Mr. Harold Norman, the card sales, and the queen contest in which our's was the first junior class to put its candidate on the throne. Then there was the hard work in the junior store that was managed by Faith Myers, Paul Gaff, Dan Anderson, and Pat Tonkel. Another class party came along, this time featuring the beatnick crew of John Whan on the bongos and Vern Carson reading mystic rhythmmed poems. The party wound up in a spider web of taffy candy. Committees for the Junior-Senior Prom worked practically all year for the last main event of the year.

All in all, we kept our sponsors, Mr. Norman and Mrs. Hively on their toes. The junior class would like to extend a very special thanks to them for their fine help.

Sharon Sheldon and John Whan pause a moment to say "Good-bye" to Mother before going to the dance.

Sophomores Make Christmas Card Sales A Success

The Sophomore class sponsors, Mr. Wolfe, Mr. Mangus, and Mrs. Holcomb, began the year with sixty-three students in the sophomore class. Three new students joined our ranks from West Virginia, Illinois, and still another one from Wisconsin.

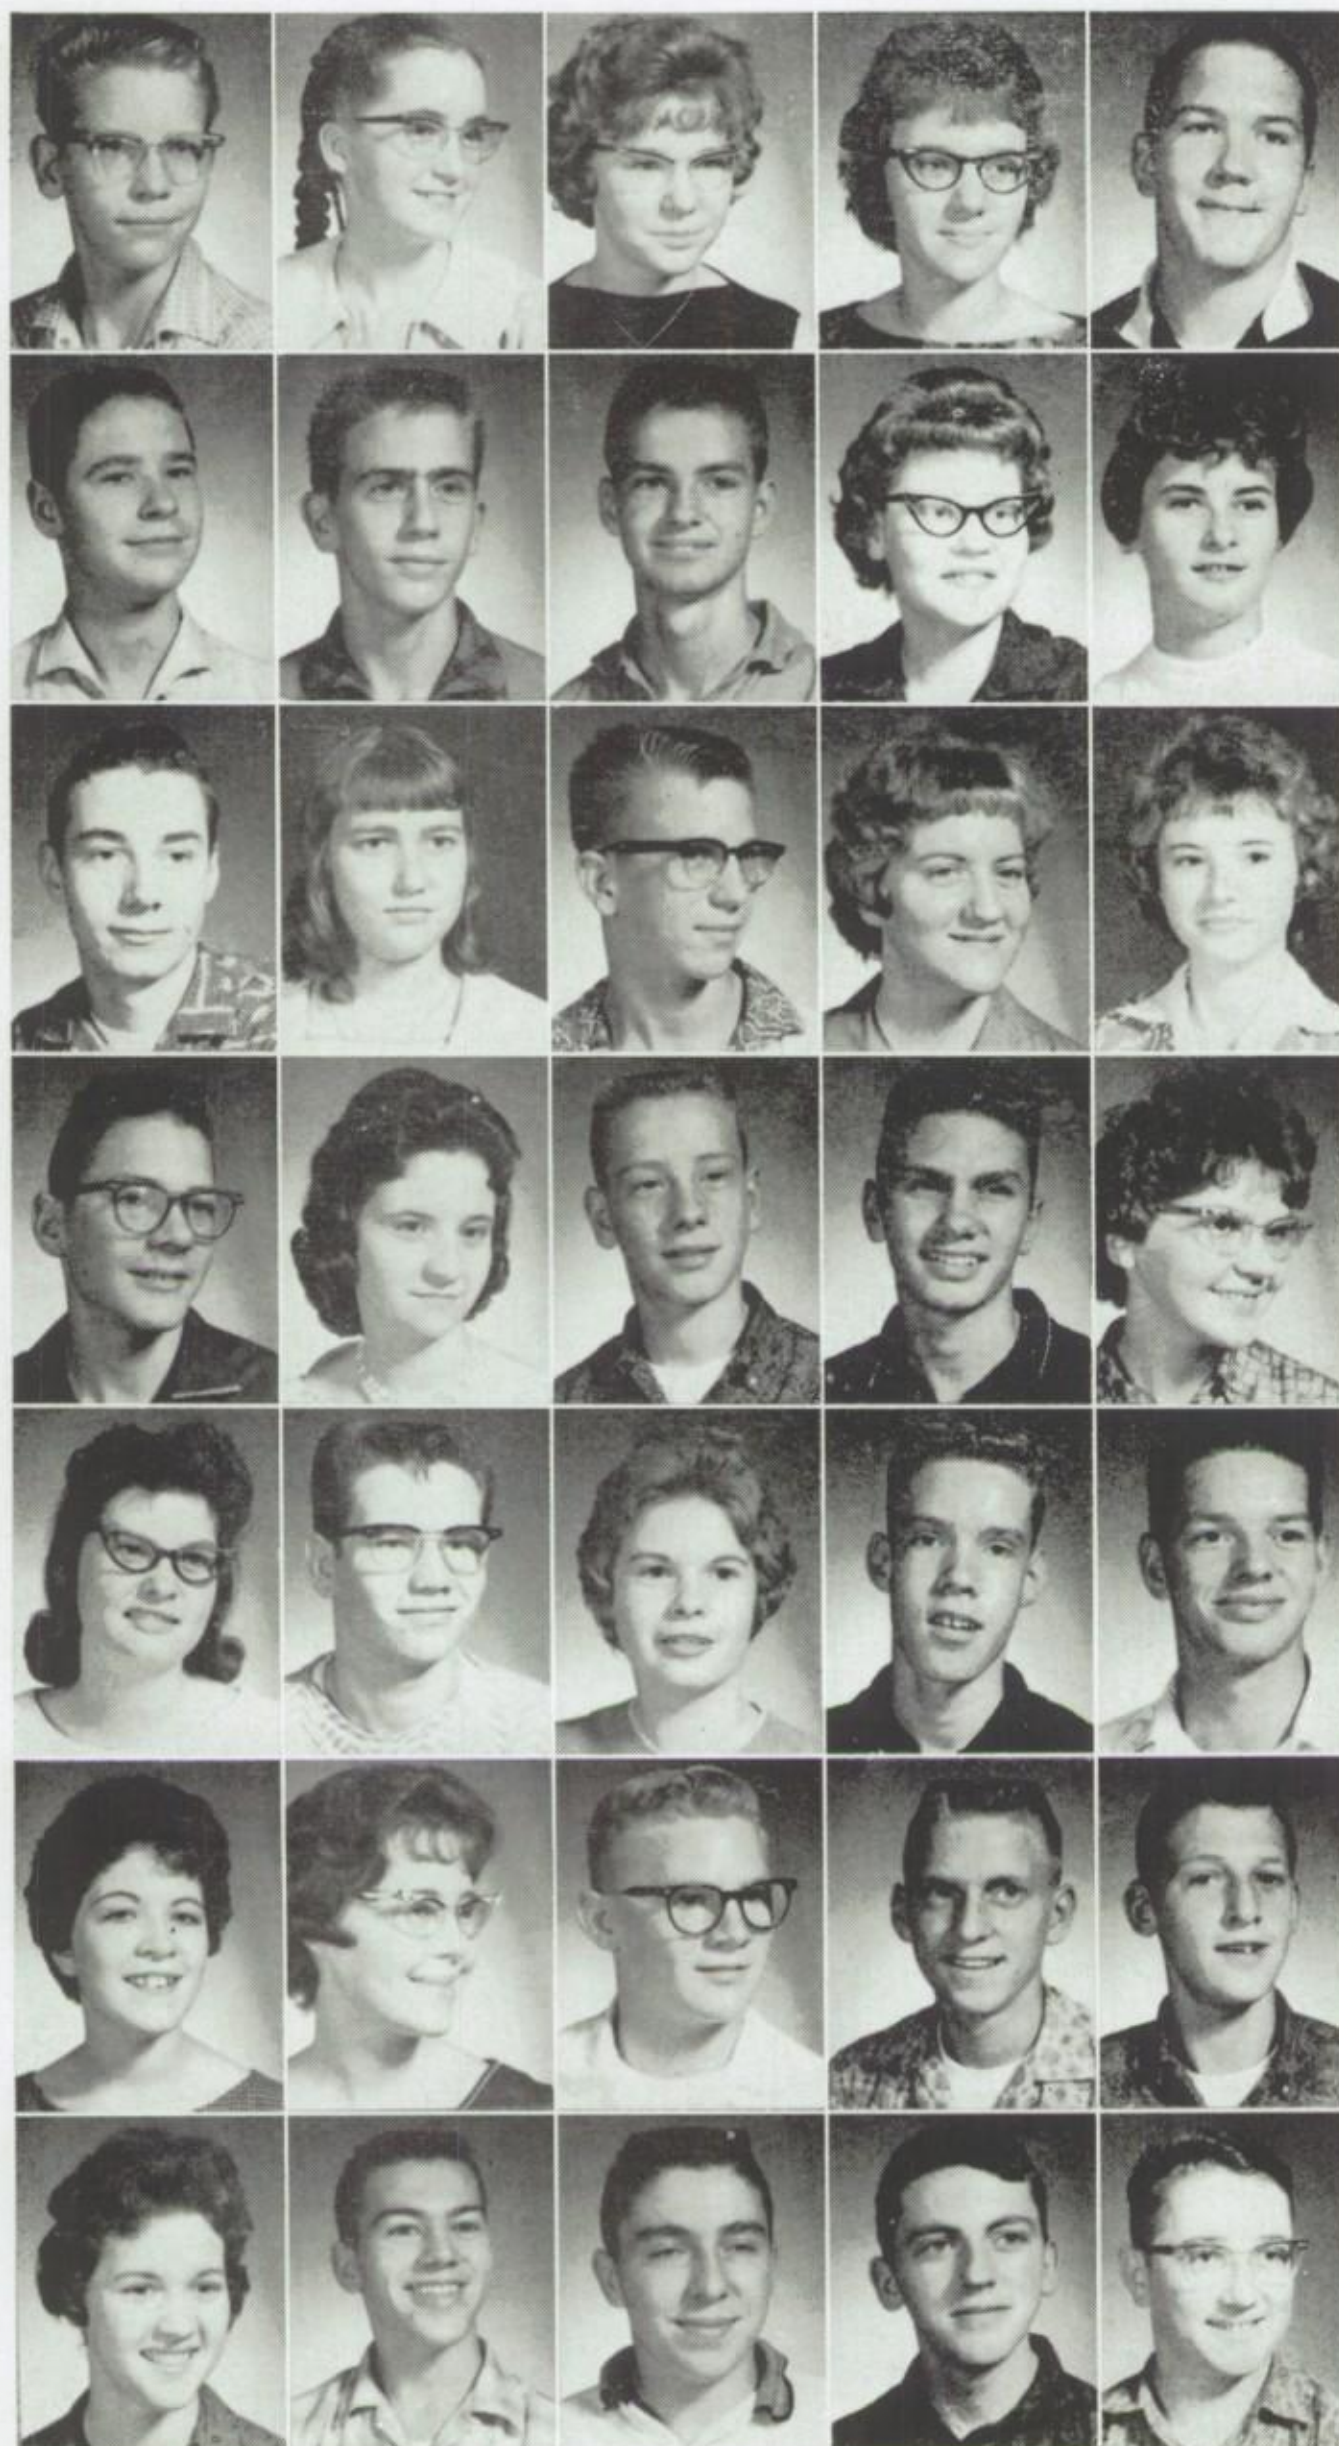

In the class election, Hershel Clouse was elected president; Don Martin, vice-president; Becky Darr, secretary; and Sharon Diffendarfer, treasurer. Ronnie Baughman was elected to serve on the Student Council, and Hershel Clouse was chosen as the representative to the Booster Club. Along with these, Sharon Diffendarfer and Mary Ziegler were chosen to work on the TUSITALA staff along with John Townsend and Becky Darr.

The Christmas card sales, which were held in November, were very successful. We had one captain elected from each home room who then appointed five co-captains to head groups of students in order to avoid a mix-up in handling the card sales.

We were very proud to receive our class sweaters. We chose black sweaters with white and black emblems and numerals.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

Patty Zolman, treasurer; Steve Parker, president; Terry Shively, vice-president; Annette Jones, secretary.

FRESHMEN BEGIN THEIR CLIMB TO THE TOP

At the start of the new year, ninety-three eager freshmen entered the doors of C.H.S. Eight years of hard work found seventy-seven students left from the eighth grade, and sixteen new ones from Green Center.

Our sponsors are Mr. Scribner, Mr. Johnson, Miss Allison, Miss Yager, Mrs. Johnson, and Mr. Showalter.

At our first meeting, we chose as our class officers Steve Parker, president; Terry Shively, vice-president; Annette Jones, secretary; Patty Zolman, treasurer; and Sherry Zolman, reporter. Our representatives on the Student Council are John Geiger and Steve Parker. In addition to class officers, Nancy Barnhart and Sherry Zolman were appointed to work on the TUSITALA staff.

We are proud of our three freshmen, Jack Green, Kerry Perlich, and Steve Parker, who played on the reserve basketball team.

We are also proud to have the distinction of having the largest class enrollment in Churubusco High School.

EDITOR'S NOTE

This writing of the Editor's page marks the completion of the TUSITALA for another year. At the end of this writing, the fifteenth volume will be sent to press. Plans are already being made for the new staff and the 1963 edition.

Looking back just three short months ago, I can see the room with some of my staff members laboring over yearbook material. There were frantic phone calls concerning the purchase of a photographer, printer, and engraver. After-school work sessions were necessary to meet the deadlines. Finally the end was in sight. Pictures began pouring in faster than the engraver could handle them. Proofs were returned by the printer. Thanks to a last minute check-up, a few "questionable" pictures were retaken. It is at this point that I am writing the last page.

It is hard for me to believe that the TUSITALA is completed. I must admit that there were times I worried about meeting the final deadlines.

I would like to express my deep appreciation to my sponsor for her suggestions and complete co-operation, and the senior staff members who helped me with writing copy and typing. All the others who did their share are to be commended for their work and interest.

Lastly, good luck to the Editor of the 1963 TUSITALA. I know you will find, as I did, your experience as editor to be challenging and rewarding. I wish to thank everyone for the honor and opportunity to serve Churubusco High School and its students as the editor of the 1962 TUSITALA.
